OVERVIEW

Thayer Preece is an associate in the Intellectual Property group in the firm's Silicon Valley office.

Areas of Practice

Thayer's practice focuses on trademark and copyright matters. Her practice extends to prosecuting new and pending applications at the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and Copyright Office, counseling clients on intellectual property strategy, and enforcing clients' intellectual property rights against infringers.

As part of her intellectual property practice, Thayer has extensive experience in assisting clients with domain name issues, including creating domain registration and enforcement strategies, filing registrations, and enforcing clients' rights against cybersquatters and online trademark and copyright infringers through both legal and administrative channels.

Thayer is a member of Sheppard Mullin's Video Game Industry Group. By combining a passion for gaming with her relevant knowledge in the legal field, Thayer is ideally qualified to assist clients in the video game industry with their intellectual property issues.
