WASHINGTON HEALTH LAW SUMMIT

The 12th Annual Washington Health Law Summit Register: www.shopaba.org/whs14

December 8–9, 2014

THE RITZ-CARLTON, WASHINGTON, DC

WASHINGTON, DC

Keynote Speaker

The Honorable Patrick J. Kennedy

Program Co-Sponsor:

Government and Public Sector Lawyers Division

www.abanet.org/health

Whether you are in-house counsel, in private practice, a government attorney, just interested in health policy, the 2014 Washington Health Law Summit is the one national program you cannot afford to miss. As the future of American healthcare takes shape, it is essential that attorneys from all segments of the healthcare bar and other professionals serving healthcare organizations are up to date on the latest legislative and policy developments and the implementation of significant healthcare initiatives emanating from HHS, CMS, IRS, DOJ, OIG and other key government policymakers.

This outstanding program provides a unique opportunity for federal and state government lawyers, in-house counsel and private practitioners to learn from each other in an intimate conference setting. Year after year, attendees say the Summit is “a thought provoking and interesting two days” and “a really good way to stay up-to-date.” They also enjoy “the varied speakers from the public and private sector.” One of last year’s attendees said the “topics about health policy were timely and informative. I like the blend of policy with the nuts and bolts of healthcare law.” Another stated, “I attend every year for the relevant, current information—it allows me to get a general sense of where state and federal legislation is headed.”

The Monday evening welcome and diversity reception is an excellent opportunity for networking over cocktails and hors d’oeuvres (included in your registration fee).

KEYNOTE SPEAKER—The Keynote Address will be made by The Honorable Patrick J. Kennedy, Former United States Representative, Rhode Island; Co-Founder, One Mind for Research and Founder, Kennedy Forum, Island Heights, NJ.
The Honorable Patrick J. Kennedy will address crucial healthcare issues faced by our veterans: mental health conditions due to combat-related neurological injuries, stigma and discrimination associated with mental health and substance use disorders, and the need for proper classification of war-related brain disorders as combat wounds so that veterans and their families receive the benefits they deserve. Recent achievements made by neuroscientists and brain researchers will also be discussed.

Veterans’ Mental Health Issues
This panel will address the policy issues impacting the ability of veterans to access needed healthcare treatment services in both public and private sectors.
Discussion topics will include: the special needs of veterans with addiction and mental health issues; the current state of the law supporting VA and non-VA services for addiction and related mental illness; and the development of a coordinated federal government response to addicted and mentally ill veterans over recent decades.

1) Mobile Devices and HIPAA: Balancing Clinical Needs with Legal Pitfalls
Advances in technology are moving at a fast pace. Developments in mobile devices technology spur efficiencies in clinical practice and communication among health care providers. At the same time, the use of texting is on the rise. After recent Office of Civil Rights enforcement actions, health care providers are now reconsidering their policies. The panelists will explore: current uses of devices in a clinical setting and cutting edge technology; benefits and pitfalls of mobile devices in a clinical setting, and HIPAA requirements every health provider should know.

11:30 am–12:30 pm

2) Privatization of Medicaid—the Solution to Medicaid Expansion under ACA?

After the Supreme Court ruled in 2012 Medicaid expansion was optional for states under the Affordable Care Act (ACA), Governors had the opportunity to decide whether and how to expand their Medicaid programs. While half of the states chose to expand their programs in accordance with the ACA’s parameters, several states with large Medicaid populations sought more flexibility in designing their expansion programs by using managed care organizations (MCOs), requiring the utilization of health savings accounts or requiring other enrollee obligations.

As a solution to bulging Medicaid budgets, state legislatures have looked for budget certainty and financial gains from MCOs. The panelists will explore the details of these privatization programs and whether if they provide solutions that can be utilized by other states.

- Dianne Heffron, Principal, Government Human Services Consulting, Mercer, Washington, DC
- Pat Brady, Managing Principal, Sellers Dorsey, Commonwealth of PA
- Moderator: Michelle Apodaca, Waller, Lansden, Dortch & Davis, Austin, TX

<tr>
<td></td>
<td>The most significant health insurance market reforms took effect at the beginning of the year following a difficult and error-plagued launch of the health insurance exchanges. Still, health insurers, healthcare providers and consumers have been trying to digest the Affordable Care Act’s challenges and opportunities for almost five years, now. We see reports that the number of uninsured Americans is declining. And we hear claims that there are more options to get covered in the new health insurance marketplace while seemingly contradictory views contend that our choice of providers in the new health insurance products is narrowing. Whether required by the Affordable Care Act or inspired by the quest for competitive superiority or mere economic survival, health insurance products being developed in the market are undergoing a transformation which impacts not only health insurers, but also the healthcare delivery network, producers, consumers and employers. Our panel of experts will take a look at what really happened to the health insurance marketplace as a result of the Affordable Care Act’s 2014 reforms and trends you and your clients can expect to see in the future.</td>

Washington, DC | December 8–9, 2014

American Bar Association Health Law Section
10:00–11:00 am
Law at the Crossroads—Counseling in the Context of Conflicting Laws
This panel will explore the ethical and professional responsibility implications of counseling clients on activities that may be lawful in some contexts and unlawful in others, such as dispensing of marijuana, marketing activities on behalf of health care providers and regulation of compounding pharmacies. The discussion will also include appropriate limitations on advice, the distinction between counseling potentially illegal conduct and advising a client of consequences of its actions, and the risks associated with providing advice that may result in the prosecution of the client (and the lawyer). The learning objectives for this session are to acquaint lawyers with the professional obligations they undertake in counseling clients on issues where federal and state laws may conflict and to help lawyers assess the risks to clients and themselves in providing legal advice in these situations.
Susan Winkler, Assistant United States Attorney, Boston, MA
Lisa D. Taylor, Inglesino, Wycliskala & Taylor LLC, Parsippany, NJ
Moderator: Andrew J. Demetriou, Berkeley Research Group LLC, Credo LLP, Los Angeles, CA

11:00 am–12:00 pm
Concurrent Sessions

1) And Now it's Time for New Rules—What's in the Medicare 2015 Hospital IPPS Final Rule?
This session will address the important changes made by the Medicare 2015 Hospital Inpatient PPS Final Rule, and discuss the implications for Medicare providers, focusing on DSH, outliers, and the wage index for reclassified acute care hospitals. The speakers also will discuss trends in recent precedents and their impact on Medicare reimbursement for hospitals and other health care providers.
Arthur E. Peabody, Jr., Lead Medicare Counsel, BlueCross BlueShield Association, Washington, DC
Robert L. Roth, Hooper, Lundy & Bookman, Washington, DC
Daniel Schroder, Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, Baltimore, MD

2) There is Nothing More Certain than Healthcare Coverage or Taxes
This panel will focus on the real world complexities, remaining uncertainties and various tax consequences stemming from the ACA’s “individual mandate,” the employer “pay or play” requirements and various tax reporting requirements. Specifically, we will tackle the consequences and uncertainties from the perspective of individuals (evaluating the full costs of individual policies associated with the mandate as well as the provisions within the Tax Code that benefit individuals), insurers/employers (outlining the evolving employer requirements and associated reporting), and the government.
James R. Napoli, Seyfarth Shaw LLP, Washington, DC
Internal Revenue Service Representative (Invited)
Moderator: Stefan P. Smith, Locke Lord LLP, Dallas, TX

12:00–1:00 pm
LUNCH AND LEARN—Legal Considerations When Transitioning from the Government to Private Practice
This session will touch on the different ethical standards for attorneys transitioning from the government to private practice while drawing on the experiences of former government attorneys that have made the transition. Federal laws and regulations impose a number of restrictions on former government lawyers related to representation on certain matters, contact with governmental agencies, and compensation. The Model Rules of Professional Conduct also articulate express standards to govern the behavior of former government lawyers entering private practice.
Harriet Miers, Locke Lord LLP, Dallas, TX
Mark D. Polston, King & Spalding LLP, Washington, DC
Moderator: Donald H. Romano, Foley & Lardner LLP, Washington, DC
