Alfred Fraijo, Jr. is a partner in the Real Estate, Land Use and Natural Resources Practice Group in the firm's San Francisco and Los Angeles office. He is a member and former Leader of the firm's Latin America Practice Group, a global initiative that provides specialized legal representation to Hispanic/Latino-owned companies and companies focused on the U.S. Latino market.

Areas of Practice

Alfred grows his expertise on cutting-edge real estate transactions for public, private and nonprofit developers and multi-national corporations in the U.S. and abroad.

Alfred has significant experience in obtaining and negotiating land use entitlements for complex housing and mixed-use development projects throughout California, including advising clients with innovative, urban renewal projects in the inner-city and other sectors with emerging markets. His expertise extends to complex project permitting and financing of affordable housing projects and mixed-income housing developments. His real estate and land use expertise extends to master planning projects, green energy facilities development and permitting campuses for educational institutions and universities.

Alfred advises public and private sector clients on state and federal land use and environmental laws, including the Subdivision Map Act, California Community Redevelopment Law (including associated dissolution legislation and successor statutes), California Environmental Quality Act, National Environmental Policy Act, Clean Water Act, Endangered Species Act, CERCLA, RCRA, California Superfund Law and the Polanco Redevelopment Act. He also has significant experience in working closely with clients and consultants on due diligence review of land use issues, which includes local zoning ordinances, general plans, redevelopment agency plans and related land use restrictions.

Alfred's recent representative matters include:

- Lease real estate counsel for California university client in connection with the strategic expansion of its life sciences campus, including leasing, financing and master development agreement negotiations.
- Lead counsel for major utility in connection with land use and disposition planning, including development and disposition agreements, leasing, land purchase agreements, state and local land use permitting and CEQA compliance for property portfolio valued in excess of $500 million.
- Represented national client in the land planning, permitting and environmental review for the construction of over 200 affordable housing units in San Francisco, including replacement housing.

- Negotiated permitting and environmental review for a $250 million master plan to construct 1,000-unit student housing complex and educational and other learning facilities.
- Negotiated land use permits and property transfers for the development of 230-unit transit oriented residential project inclusive of a parking structure, public plaza and affordable housing units financed with federal, state and local funding sources.
- Negotiated all aspects of public financing – including the owner participation agreement – and construction agreements for the development of 21 single-family detached affordable homes in the Central Valley to be LEED-certified.
- Negotiated conservation easements and property transfer agreements on behalf of a multi-national renewable energy company in California.
- Completed due diligence acquisition and entitlements for 1.2 million square feet of condominiums, office, commercial and entertainment uses in Los Angeles.
- Represented developer in the construction and financing of a mixed-used project, including 100 units of affordable rental housing. Also drafted and negotiated easement agreements allocating rights and responsibilities for long-term property use and maintenance.
- Completed entitlements and negotiated redevelopment agency financing for a transit-oriented development project, including 269 condominiums, 40,000 square feet of retail and 185-space city-owned transit parking structure.
- Represented developer in connection with the entitlement and environmental review of over 1 million square feet of residential, office and entertainment uses in Los Angeles, including the preservation and rehabilitation of a historic theatre and recording studio.
- Negotiated a prevailing wage dispute arising out of a multi-million housing and commercial development project in California.
- Negotiated the sale of a 21-acre industrial site, including securing environmental indemnification and insurance for seller.
- Represented redevelopment agencies and developers in condemnation actions and environmental cleanup proceedings in connection with the Polanco Redevelopment Act.
- Negotiated environmental indemnity, remediation and easement agreements for major developers in connection with the purchase and sale of contaminated properties.
- Represented developers and purchasers of contaminated properties in negotiations with governmental agencies in order to obtain Prospective Purchaser Agreements, Comfort Letters and No Further Action Letters for protection from environmental liability.

Alfred has served on numerous real estate associations and organizations focused on urban renewal issues and civic empowerment. He is the founder and chairman of the Los Angeles Urban Renewal Network, a multi-disciplinary collaborative of young professionals engaged in policy and sustainable development to improve the quality of housing in Southern California. He serves as president on the board of directors for the Friends of the Hollywood Freeway Central Park, and he advises several non-profit housing development corporations, including serving as a board member of California Community Builders and chairman of the East LA Community Corporation. In addition, he is a founding board member of Honor PAC and For People of Color, a non-profit organization dedicated to growing diversity in the legal profession.

Alfred continues to speak for professional associations and continuing education symposia and has published articles on emerging trends in state and federal land use and environmental law as well as on environmental justice issues. He is admitted to practice in California and the District of Columbia. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the State Bar of California, the District of Columbia Bar, the San Francisco Bar Association, the Los Angeles Bar Association and the Mexican American Bar Association.

Alfred received his J.D. from Loyola Law School, Los Angeles, in 2002, where he was a full-tuition scholarship recipient and member of the nationally ranked National Hispanic Moot Court Team from 2001 to 2002. In 1999, he graduated, cum laude, from Harvard University and received a B.A. in Government. Prior to attending Loyola and Harvard, Alfred participated in an accelerated engineering program at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and traveled as a student ambassador to Japan and South Korea.
