About:

As we move forward together in the financial industry, STANY and WIF continue to find new ways to challenge the current environment and foster and support women in finance. In honor of and to close out Women's History Month, STANY and STANY WIF will present a discussion with senior women in finance on how they balance priorities. Our panel will address the personal challenges presented by work in a COVID environment and also explore balancing the SEC's recently published regulatory priorities for 2021. Although presented in conjunction with STANY WIF, we value and encourage inclusion. This event is open to all interested persons.
