

Why It's Important to Manage Confidentiality in M&A Deals

Daily Journal
08.31.2020

Authored by: Zachary Turke and Edward Xia

Maintaining confidentiality is an important, and often stress-inducing, part of any M&A sale process. By preparing ahead, sellers can be aware of how potential information leaks may develop in their sale process and develop strategies to deal with them.

Attorneys

Zachary M. Turke

Edward Xia

Practice Areas

Corporate

Mergers and Acquisitions