

CLE International's 2nd Annual Food Law Conference

A Comprehensive Review of the Evolving Legal Landscape

May 11-12, 2017

Where:

Omni Downtown Austin
700 San Jacinto at 8th Street
Austin, TX 78701

About:

The feedback provided by attendees at our inaugural Food Law Conference in 2016 confirms that executives, attorneys, professors, nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), and other stakeholders in food and the food industry are hungry for the latest information on the legal and other issues that food presents.

The food landscape is rapidly changing as an increasingly engaged and educated customer base, as well as rapidly developing new technologies, redefine the business to which the food industry must adapt. Hear from front-line practitioners, regulators, academics, as well as other influencers and stakeholders about what is in store in the year ahead.

This year's panels and presentations will include:

Legal Efforts to Reduce Sugar Consumption

Special Food and Politics Panel

Navigating the Labeling and Marketing Claim Minefield

Proposition 65

Recalls and Misdemeanor Liability

Ethics in Client Outreach

Government Perspectives

Hullabaloo about "Healthy"
