DESCRIPTION:

Join InfraGard San Diego as we explore practical considerations and best practices for planning a safe return to the workplace during the COVID-19 pandemic. Attendees representing small and large businesses alike will benefit from the insight of corporate leaders from Teradata, Target, Dow Jones/The Wall Street Journal, the law firm of Sheppard Mullin, and Corporate Medical Advisors as they discuss their playbooks for safely reopening. Hear firsthand business critical advice and experiences in operationalizing employee health and safety considerations, risk mitigation measures, government guidance, legal implications, and more as we develop and engage thoughtful return-to-work plans. Our panel, which represents companies with wide exposure due to both a domestic and international presence, and B2B and retail operations, will also discuss cultural changes in the workplace driven by the pandemic, and what the future might look like in the post-COVID office.

Other panelists include:

- Bob Heyer, Head of Global Physical Security and EHS, Teradata
- Mark Krause, Senior Director, Corporate Security, Target
- Nathan Puffer, Director of News Risk, Dow Jones/The Wall Street Journal
- Dr. Ken Lindemann, Internist, Corporate Medical Advisors
