About:

You insure what's most valuable to you: your health, your home, family heirlooms, and even your pet's health. Why would you leave one of your company's most valuable assets - its data - uninsured?

Company data is under attack, now more than ever, with the FBI's Cyber Division seeing a 400% increase in complaints since the pandemic began. Our panel, consisting of a CIO, a cyber insurer, and outside counsel, will discuss how to build - or bolster- your corporate cyber resiliency from their 3 distinct points of view on cyber response preparedness.

What we'll cover:

- Current cyber insurance landscape
- How to be proactive to ensure data security
- Post-breach response
- Trends in cyber insurance
