The firm's Entertainment, Media & Communications Practice is based in Century City where we've been in residence since 2003. From this office located on the west side of L.A., we can better serve our entertainment industry clients, many of which have studios and executive offices here. The Century City office also has attorneys who practice in corporate and securities, litigation, intellectual property, labor and employment, healthcare and insurance.

The leaders of our entertainment practice and co-practice group leader for litigation are resident in this office.

Sheppard Mullin's Century City office is home to a multidisciplinary team of nearly 100 lawyers who help clients navigate issues of global, national and local significance.

Many of the firm's leaders reside in the Century City office, including the heads of our Corporate, Entertainment and Digital Media, Healthcare, Litigation, Privacy and Cybersecurity, and Private Wealth groups.

The office provides a full range of services to our clients across industries. Our Century City attorneys focus primarily on: Advertising, Antitrust and Competition, Appellate, Corporate, Entertainment and Digital Media, Healthcare, Intellectual Property, International Arbitration, Labor and Employment, Litigation, Privacy and Cybersecurity, Private Wealth and Fiduciary Litigation, Private Wealth Services, and White Collar Defense and Corporate Investigations.

We have a long tradition of service to the community, with many community leaders residing in the Century City office, including members of the boards of directors of the Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles, Bet Tzedek, and the Constitutional Rights Foundation. Our lawyers provided over 4,000 hours of pro bono services between 2018 and 2019 to indigent clients and multiple pro bono organizations, including the Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles, Bet Tzedek, Public Counsel, the LA County Bar Association, GLAAD, The Trevor Project, Children of the Night, the LA Opera, the U.S. District Court, Las Madrinas, and many others. The Century City office received the Law Firm Award from the Legal Aid Foundation of Los Angeles in 2017 for its community service.
