Sid Fohrman and Dan Schnapp head Sheppard Mullin's new Esports Industry Team.

"As esports continues to experience booming growth, it's inevitable that the number and complexity of legal issues will increase," Fohrman said. "I'm excited about collaborating with my colleagues in navigating this dynamic space."

"We thought the opportunity was ripe given the type of expertise and capabilities we have across the firm that the esports area and industry requires," Schnapp said. "It's a variety of specialized expertise that we have deep bench strength in and we believe the opportunity presented itself."
