

Disability Advocates File Class Action, Stepping Up Legal Push for MTA Transit Accessibility

Following a summary judgment in their favor in March, disability advocates are now pushing for a systemwide decision to force the transit agency to honor federal access requirements.

New York Law Journal

05.15.2019

Daniel Brown is noted as representation to the plaintiffs.

Attorneys

Daniel L. Brown