

Strong Tailwinds Give NewSpace Dealmaking Plenty of Green Space

The Deal

05.25.2022

In an article for The Deal, Sheppard Mullin partner and leader of the Mergers and Acquisitions team Zac Turke and associate Rambod Peykar discuss how in recent years the dynamic has changed as start-ups and mid-sized companies have entered the twenty-first century space race, eyeing the so called "NewSpace" market with such efforts as orbital satellites, rovers and other, less capital intensive initiatives than the aerospace industry of old.
